ALLIANCE FOR FAIR SUGAR POLICY

A handful of states produce and process the vast majority of sugar in the U.S. Unfortunately, employment in the sugar-containing products industry is trending downward. Thousands of American jobs will be at risk and new opportunities for growth will be lost if the sugar program continues without necessary reforms, such as those included in the Fair Sugar Policy Act.

Minnesota produces one-third of all sugar beets in the U.S.

Florida produces 50% of all U.S. sugarcane

Louisiana produces 48% of all U.S. sugarcane

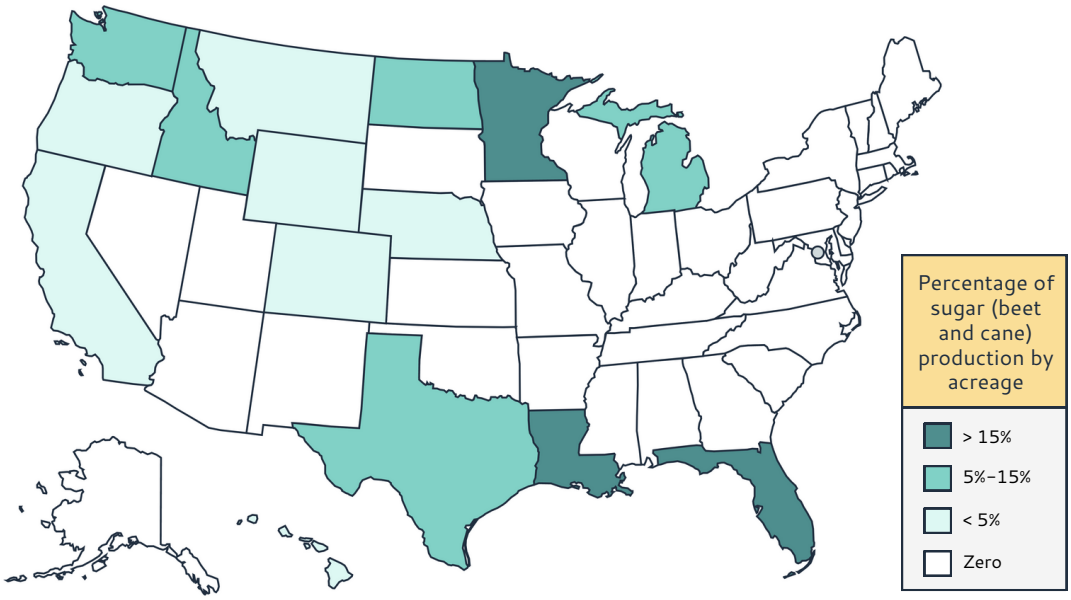
Few States Benefit from Current Sugar Policy

Small businesses and manufacturers that use sugar as an ingredient operate in all 50 states and need reforms to thrive and grow.

But our current policy is designed to benefit sugar production in just a few states.



To find out more about the Fair Sugar Policy Act visit
FairSugarPolicy.org | Facebook: Fair Sugar Policy | Instagram & Twitter: @FairSugarPolicy